

Animal Preparedness

Our pets are our family. Making sure that they are prepared as well as you is essential. In the event of an evacuation, your pets will need to be sheltered as well as you. In some cases, they may not be able to remain with you at all times. Therefore, proper identification, nutrition, and medical history is important to keep on hand with your other disaster preparedness supplies.

For additional information on how to prepare your pets, please visit the ASPCA website on disaster preparedness.
